Report of the Event

Objective: On the occasion of Women's Day, we organized this session to raise awareness among female students on women's health and safety. Also, the session focuses on various aspects related to menstrual health and how to be more aware of various diseases related to it. Other important issues touched on are the PoSH Act, Mental health issues, and societal norms. The session was focused on motivating female students to live life holistically.

Description:

The session was organized by Dr. Monika Nagar and Ms. Bhanu Verma, who organized an awareness session titled “Empowering Women: Holistic Approach to Health and Safety” for the female students of IMS Engineering College and all the female faculty members of IMSEC, on 06/03/2024. The session was conducted by Ms. Ramanjeet Kaur, Founder of Skills Ally.

The session has been conducted to raise awareness among female students on women's health and safety. The session started with a simple activity of giving a valuable complement to the woman sitting next. The compliment-giving activity proves that we all feel happy and confident when someone says good things about us. Then, the speaker discusses various myths related to the menstrual cycle and the hardships all women face around the world. There are various applications available that help in tracking hormonal disbalance, PCOS, and PCOD. She also focused on the provisions of PoSH Act for the harassment of women in the workplace.

There is a healthy discussion between students and speakers about mental health issues and how to overcome them with a holistic approach. In the end, the speaker focuses on the phrase “I can “to emphasize that we as women can do whatever we want to and live a graceful life.

Outcome:

The outcome of this session is to create harmony among various societal norms and gender norms. To motivate women to their better health and their rights at various levels in the country. The female students are looking more aware and motivated towards themselves.

Report of the Event

Objective: On the occasion of Women's Day, we organized this session to raise awareness among female students on women's health and safety. Also, the session focuses on various aspects related to menstrual health and how to be more aware of various diseases related to it. Other important issues touched on are the PoSH Act, Mental health issues, and societal norms. The session was focused on motivating female students to live life holistically.

Description:

The session was organized by Dr. Monika Nagar and Ms. Bhanu Verma, who organized an awareness session titled “Empowering Women: Holistic Approach to Health and Safety” for the female students of IMS Engineering College and all the female faculty members of IMSEC, on 06/03/2024. The session was conducted by Ms. Ramanjeet Kaur, Founder of Skills Ally.

The session has been conducted to raise awareness among female students on women's health and safety. The session started with a simple activity of giving a valuable complement to the woman sitting next. The compliment-giving activity proves that we all feel happy and confident when someone says good things about us. Then, the speaker discusses various myths related to the menstrual cycle and the hardships all women face around the world. There are various applications available that help in tracking hormonal disbalance, PCOS, and PCOD. She also focused on the provisions of PoSH Act for the harassment of women in the workplace.

There is a healthy discussion between students and speakers about mental health issues and how to overcome them with a holistic approach. In the end, the speaker focuses on the phrase “I can” to emphasize that we as women can do whatever we want to and live a graceful life.

Outcome:

The outcome of this session is to create harmony among various societal norms and gender norms. To motivate women to their better health and their rights at various levels in the country. The female students are looking more aware and motivated towards themselves.
